for action regarded as beneficial to the commercial advancement of the yesterday afternoon at the closing session of a two-day convention of the Mississippi Valley Association in Hotel Statler. The chief subjects dealt with were inland waterways. flood control, good roads, foreign trade and industrial relations.

The resolutions relating to waterways were, in substance, as follows: Commendation of the general policy of inland waterway improvenent, with especial regard to the Mississippi system projects and that providing a route for ocean-going vessels from the Atlantic Ocean to rence River.

The immediate application by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the principle of through rail, river and rail rates. This concerns the Government River Service upon the Mississippi River and is calculated to permit shippers north of Si Louis to send their products by rai to St. Louis to be transferred t barges here and retransferred a some Southern river point for con signment to inland points in south eastern and southwestern states.

The appointment of a waterway man to the Interstate Commerce Commission. This resolution is re garded as strengthening the possi-bility of James E. Smith of St. Louis being appointed to the commission. The resolutions relating to foreign trade were calculated for the most part to strengthen the gulf ports as Extension of Parity Urged.

The Interstate Commerce Com nission is requested to maintain the parity it recently established which enables interior exporters to reach gulf ports by rail as cheaply as New York. It is further urged that the parity be extended to Baltimore. which now has a more attractive rate than either the gulf norts or New York. This resolution is in line with the Valley's effort to rid itself commercial dependence upon New York.

The Shipping Board should be continued in existence until it has giv-en a greater allocation of its ships to Southern ports and trade routes are firmly established. In this connection, the proposal of the Shipping Board to rehabilitate the trade routes of the Hamburg-American line is disapproved.

Foreign Trade Bank Urged. The establishment of a $5,000,000 foreign trade Bank in the Mississippi Valley is urged. This resolution relating to industrial relations, which was fathered by Gov.-elect John M. Parker of ouisiana, was adopted:

"We favor legislation which, while giving all due protection to the rights of citizens, whether or-ganized or unorganized, whether employers or employes, shall be based upon a recognition of the fact that the rights of all the people are supreme over the rights of any portion thereof, as follows: That all labor organizations shall be incorporated and made fully responsible for their acts. That no one may be an officer of a labor organization who is not an American citizen. That both strikes and lockouts on transportation systems and in essential indus-tries shall be prohibited. That local, State and National Boards of Arbi-tration shall be provided so that all complaints may be heard and all grievances remedied. PROPOSED TO PAY PIGGLY WIGGLY SOLDIERS' BONUS

Levies on Stock Exchange Transactions and on Incomes, a Sales Tax, and Higher Tobacco Rates.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—A tax on all Stock Exchange transactions equal- to the brokers' commission has been agreed on tentatively by Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee as one of the new levies for raising money for the soldier bonus legislation.

Three other levies for raising the money similarly have been adopted by the Republicans. These are: A 1 per cent levy on the final sales to consumers, a new levy on incomes, probably in excess of $5000, and an increase of approximately 15 per cent on existing taxes on tobacco and

These four forms of taxes would remain in effect two years and the Republicans estimate that they would net about $1,500,000,000 for soldier relief. They will be incorporated in the legislation to be presented in the House May 3.

Agreement Open to Revision. Committeemen said the final agreement on the relief bill, including the methods of taxation, were open to revision, but they predicted that the four-fold plan of taxation would not be changed.

Treasury experts working with the Republican committeemen estimate that $400,000,000 a year will be raised by the sales tax, $200,000 .-000 from the stock exchange deals, $100,000,000 from a 2 per cent tax on part of incomes exceeding $5000, and $50,000,000 by the 15 per cent increase on tobacco taxes.

Committeemen declared that regardless of the form, the taxation ultimately would be borne by the They estimated that more than 7 exchanges, including Wall street, the Chicago Board of Trade and the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, would be affected by the tax on stock transactions.

The exact levy on incomes had not been fixed, but members of the com-mittee believe it will be 2 per cent on the portion of incomes over

CADMAN'S CANTATA TO LOWELL'S "LAUNFAL"

American Work Presented Through Enterprise of Knights of Columbus Chorus.

This must be said for the Knights of Columbus Choral Club—in program-making it is the most ambitious vocal organization in the city, except the Pageant Choral Society. An instance of the club's enterprise was given in its concert last night at the Odeon. Instead of ditties and ballads which are easy to learn, and easy to sing, but have only a trivial musical value, it undertook a lengthy and difficult cantata by Charles Wakefield Cadman, to text from James Russell Lowell's "The Vision

By this choice the 50 odd members of the male chorus, who, for love of music, devote to laborious re hearsal the spare moments snatched from their daily work, sentenced themselves to an arduous task. They voluntarily increased it by electing to memorize the composition from start to finish. It was a demonstraion of no small enthusiasm for the most fugitive of the arts.

Thus the public had an opportunity of observing what one of the best known of American composers is achieving in the larger forms. Cadman's researches into Indian folk-song are famous, resulting in a number of charming lyrics familiar to all vocalists. In the cantata he leans no longer upon folksong, but stands on the feet of his own personality and invention. To some listeners the result was not altogether satisfying, but the presentation of the composi-tion was worth while as an illustration of contemporaneous effort in American music.

Estimate of Cadman's Cantata. So far as one may judge from a first and single hearing, Cadman's work is fertile in harmonic resources, displays spurts of energy, instead of sustained vigor, employs rhythmic contrasts with considerable cleverness, is more or less trite and in-significant in the invention of melodic ideas, and fails with signal certainty to lay hold on the noble and epic mood of Arthurian legend. So also did Lowell fail, for the matter of that. It is fully recognized that the cantata would have fared better at the hands of a bigger chorus, and one of securer musicianship, as well as of more accomplished soloists.

The chorus brought to the task a commendable spirit of determination and earnestness. There was much evidence of painstaking rehearsal, under the exacting direction of William Theodore Diebels, organist at the New Cathedral. The tone quality of the collective voice was pleasing, the shading of emotion was often perceptible though not al-ways suave, and the notations as to varying force and speed were studiously followed.

Lee and Henry Soloists. Following its policy of recognizing Louis singers, the chorus presented as soloists in the cantata J. Gleen Lee, tenor, and Frederick E. Henry, baritone. The former also contributed an aria, "O Paradiso," from Meyerbeer's "L'Africaine," and group of well interpreted songs in English. Mrs. Esmeralda Berry English. Mayes officiated spiritedly at the piano, and during several episodes n the cantata an organ was played behind the stage. The audience including local dignitaries of the Catholic Church, was numerous and

Petition for restoration of conjugal rights is the usual preliminary to a suit for divorce in this country

Lady Cholmondely, then Clara Taylor of Washington, D. C., first appeared in London in the chorus of a musical comedy. She and John Alexander Stirling, Laird of Kippe davie, were secretly married in 1904 Stirling divorced her in the spring of 1909 after a sensational court

WHITE MEN WHO LYNCHED A NEGRO PLEAD GUILTY

CANTON, Tex., April 22.—Charley Lansdale, Willie Long and Tom Lay, said by court officials to have been the first white men ever indicted in Texas for lynching a negro, entered a plea of guilty to manslaughter in the county court here and were given a two year suspended sentence.

The defendants are indicted in Upshur County for lynching Chilton Jennings, negro, at Gilmer, July 24, 1919, and the case was brought here on change of venue. Jennings was taken from jail and hanged following his arrest on a charge of assaulting a white woman. "Overall Clubs" and Woodpiles

Not so very long ago it was the fashion to have a woodpile in every back yard. And if a man found his wood supply running short, he simply used less—of his own wood!

He might have saved his own woodpile by using his neighbor's fuel -but that wouldn't have been fair to his neighbor.

The recently formed "Overall Clubs" are buying overalls which are needed by the workingmen of this country. A serious overall shortage has existed for some time. The "Overall Club" movement is making this shortage acute.

In other words, the "Overall Clubs," instead of conserving their own woodpile, are helping themselves to the supply in their neighbor's back yard.

The "Overall Clubs" are simply reducing an already inadequate supply of overalls. It is not fair to the man who must wear overalls every day. It is not even good economics.

THE PRICE OF OVERALLS MUST NOT BE FORCED UP

To All Dealers Who Sell Overalls

Do not be misled by the "Overall Movement." It is only temporary. The business resulting to you individually will not amount to a great deal.

The Workingman is your real overall customer. He will be buying overalls long after this fad has died out. Serve him FIRST, and do not raise your prices to take advantage of a temporary situation.

You cannot get St. Louis Seed Company's pure and sure seeds and plants, our poultry and garden supplies, anywhere else. You can get them nowhere except at our store.

And it is a rather wonderful store for this line of business. A big, modern four-story building in the shopping district, the only building in the country designed for the exclusive retailing of gardeners' and poultry raisers' supplies. There are not many stores in the country to compare with it.

Seeds are a small part of a garden. But how important they are. And what a difference there is in seeds. Of course, you cannot tell that the seeds were poor until the garden fails, and then it's too late to do anything. But there is a way of knowing the seeds are good.

Even if it's to be only a little back yard flower or vegetable garden it will surely pay to get your seeds from a seed house that has been selling good seeds here in St. Louis for so many years that nobody remembers quite

You can call at our store or you can write or phone. They are the only ways of obtaining our pure and sure seeds. And in one of these three ways you can obtain a copy of our booklet, "The Seed Annual for 1920."

ALBANY, N. Y., April 22.—The Black resolution for an investigation of the New York Stock Exchange will not be adopted, Senator J. Henry Walters, majority leader in the New York Senate, announced today.

"There seems to be an impression," said Walters, "that the Black c"solution was in part the cauke of the break in the stock market yesterday. There was no intention to hurt anybody, and if this resolution is in any way affecting the market it will not be adopted."

There was much apprehension lest the heavy margin calls sent out after the close last night following the slump of more than 7c in corn prices, would bring out more grain at the start today. While opening corn prices were a cent or more off, there was a steady recovery in the early trading and before the end of the first hour values were around jast night's cribed to liquidation on the part of ill-protected holders unnerved by the strain of the day's hugh shrinkage in the worth of securities and bonds and of staple commodities like cotton.

The market was nervous all day, but prices held within about 1c of last night's final quotations. In the late trading the tone of the market was near best for day and prices were higher than at any time. Offerings at times were rather free, but takers were always on hand on recessions.

Eastern exporters reported further sales of wheat and rye at top prices for and this helped sentiment.

FINAL FROHMAN

Mr. & Mrs. St. Louis!

This is the FINAL invitation of the

to the good people of St. Louis.

Last month, in the newspapers of your city and other cities, we began to announce a most unusual and wonderful thing. It was for sharing some of the vast profits of the screen with the very people who have been responsible for the great success of the motion picture business, namely, the men and women who pay their money in at the box offices day after day and year after year.

And, oh, the responses we have had! Newsboys, wage earners, salaried employes, society women, capitalists, presidents of business corporations, people in every walk of life—thousands of them - have flooded our offices with requests for full information about THE. FROHMAN PLAN.

And what is the result? Well, it is what you might call a triumph in popular financing, with many movie fans as happy as they can be at the fact that they are now part-owners of a long established and fast-growing motion picture company whose photoplays are known to the entire amusement-loving publie throughout the world

And the Frohman Amusement Corporation is in turn proud of the fact that among its owners and profit takers

MECHANISM of publicity for campaign A MECHANISM of publicity funds is not so difficult to conceive. Every candidate should designate a responsible financial agent, and every political party should designate one. No expenditure should be permitted without the agent's approval, and his books should at all the agent's approval, and his books should at all times be open to examination. The candidate must shoulder the ultimate responsibility for his financial agent. If illegal practices have occurred through that agent's organization, the election should be void, and the candidate eligible for office, and criminally responsible. Some evasion is, of course, possible under any system. The most important would arise in connection with unofficial, self-constituted leagues and clubs to promote the candidate. A carefully drawn law should spread a net for these, sufficiently fine to catch the big fish who matter. The auxiliary orcatch the bir fish who matter. THE DREAM.

All smudgy was the pillow case
That used to be so white;
For little Tommy's little face
Was dirty every night.
In spite of all his mother said (And she had lots to say)
He always tumbled into bed,

But sh! when he was fast asleep, A horrid goblin came, And in a voice all hoarse and deep Called Tommy by his name!
"Get up!" he roared, "and wash your face
You dirty little brat.
It's absolutely a disgrace
To go to bed like that!"

The way he'd been all day.

He dug his claws in Tommy's hair, And through the shadows dim. He dragged him to the bathroom, where He washed his face for him.

And with a brush he scrubbed and scrubbed To clean off all the dirt, Then with a towel rubbed and rubbed, And goodness! how it hurt!

When Tommy wakened with a squeal He felt his tousled hair And honestly he seemed to feel The goblin's claw still there! The long, long years cannot erase The memory of that fright. STILL LITTLE TOMMY'S LITTLE FACE
